

Welcome To GDSC

Section One: Introduction

This is a highly tactical and serious clan, we do not tolerate imaturity.
If you find yourself with skills that need improving, we can help you do so.
We talk on teamspeak (the ip is: gdsc.enjinvoice.com)

Section Two: Setting Up

Before you go into the teamspeak server or go into a game with the clan members , you need to change your name on The GDSC website to your first name , and your surname initials after your first name [for example (Paul.S)]
When you come on to teamspeak, bookmark the clan ip and set your nickname the same as it is on the clan website.
If you need additional help doing you may ask or read our forums.

Section Three: Understanding Your Role

Once you have chosen your role (Assault , Engineer , Support , Recon) that you want to use for the clan , we need you guys to be trusted using those roles and play it by its definition.

Engineer, If you see a vehicle don't ask to repair it just do it.
This will score you points and aid in the teams wellbeing.

Assault being there for when they need you, if your teammate is wounded drop him a medic kit, don't wait for him to ask you for a medic pack (take the initiative).

Support, if your team or squad is under heavy fire get your ass over there and suppress them or try taking them out, Support is the key to a successful operation.

Recon , as a recon you should be take place in a location where you have a good view of the objectives so you can help your team out by spotting an enemy and taking those enemy snipers out which cause trouble. It's important for our clan members who are recons to let us know where all enemies are.

Section Four: The Social Aspect

Social aspect is very important in GDSC, what we mean by "Social Aspect" is being active also building relationships with people in the clan. Being active will get you far in GDSC, we love to see clan members getting on with each other.

"Everyone in the clan as the right to speak"

Section Five: How You Can Help

You can help the clan in many ways, you are helping the clan by just attending matches and being active but there are a few other ways also. you can recruit your friends and gain rewards or donate and receive rewards all donation go towards the teamspeak being upgraded.

Section Six: Gaining Rewards

Rewards are medals that go on your name as badges, these are for everyone to see what you have earned you can see all the medals and how to earn them on the link below:

Section Seven: Commands

Commands are specific words that we use in game, these help us coordinate on what is going on and what the leader is asking of us. They are not hard to learn and most you will know anyway from watching movies. The link below is a list of all commands and their meaning:

<http://gdsc.enjin.com/commands>

Section Eight: Earning Promotions

Promotions are earned by being active and playing well in matches, if your skill is not your strong point don't fear you also earn promotions for trying, if you recruit a person you will receive 1 promotion. Donating earns you promotions also.

Donating Earns The Following Depending On How Much You Donate:

£1-£4 Earns You 1 Promotion
£5-£8 Earns You 2 Promotions
£9+ Earns You 3 Promotions

You Will Also Receive A Medal Depending On How Much You Donate; You Can See This On The Link Below:

Section Nine: What We Expect From You

All we want to see from you as a member is you being an “active member” Dedication can be achieved by being respectful and performing tasks asked of you for example this can be in game and outside of game to.

Enjoy Your Time In The Clan, We Are Grateful You Chose To Join With Us.
